

Escanaba To Get State Guard Unit

LANSING — (AP)—Escanaba today was named headquarters for the 34th regiment of the new State Guard, Michigan's "second wave" militia.

The State Guard was ordered today to start recruiting and organizing units in every community having a National Guard outfit.

The orders were issued by the state military establishment after a conference with Governor Williams.

The state guard contemplated an organization of 7-

500 men in 77 company-size units. It will replace the National Guard "when," as Williams said, the latter is called into federal service.

Newly named regimental commanders were ordered to begin accepting applications at their home town armories for battalion and company officers, then to enlist key non-commissioned officers as soon as company commanders have been named. Lists of prospective guardsmen will be assembled.

Col. George B. Ely, commanding officer, said the state force will consist of self-contained, mobile units designed to carry out security missions. Personnel will be trained for possible emergency in case of air attack on industrial centers.

Headquarters of the 34th regiment at Escanaba will include units at all Upper Peninsula armories and Cheboygan, Alpena, Manistee, Cadillac and Grayling.

Other regimental headquarters are at Detroit, Grand Rapids and Flint.

Living Cost Level Hits 2 Year Mark

335,000 At GM Get Pay Boosts

Hourly Rate Raised By Five Cents

DETROIT —(AP)—A three per cent jump in the nation's cost of living between April and July will be reflected in a pay boost of five cents an hour for 335,000 General Motors Corporation hourly-rated workers.

The increase, effective Sept. 2, was announced by the corporation last night when the government bureau of labor statistics reported the climb in its cost of living index.

General Motors also said it was paying 76,000 salaried employees an additional $25 in the next three months but had no immediate plans to boost auto prices.

GM production workers are assured under the CIO United Auto workers contract with the corporation an additional cent hourly for each 1.14 per cent point change in the index each quarter.

Highest Since October

Between April 15 and July 15 of this year, the index advanced from 169.3 to 172.5, the highest it has been since October, 1948. The index is based on percentage of the 1935-39 cost of living level.

On May 29, UAW workers at General Motors received a wage increase of four cents an hour in the new five-year contract signed by the company and union.

The cost-of-living escalator clause, which works independent of fixed hourly rates in the GM-UAW contract, contains no ceiling on how high the worker's pay can go. However, employees cannot lose more than the three-cent cost-of-living subsidy they are now receiving.

GM President C. E. Wilson expressed hope that "the cost-of-living increase and the upward price trend in basic commodities are of a temporary nature only."

"Despite the substantial increase in our labor costs and the continued upward trend in the price of rubber and other basic materials," he added, "we are carefully evaluating our operations in an effort to maintain our present prices. No price changes are contemplated by General Motors at this time."

New War Weapons Called Fantastic

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—(AP)—The United States is building "fantastic" new war weapons, says aircraft manufacturer Glenn L. Martin.

Speaking last night at a Kiwanis dinner marking the start of the American amateur baseball tournament, Martin said his Baltimore firm is building four types of homing device missiles, each of which can "track its game better than an animal."

Martin said his company will be on a full wartime basis by November.

Promises Dem Fraud Charge Probe

DETROIT —(AP)—The Wayne county prosecutor promised an investigation today of the "fraud" charges involving Democratic precinct delegate petitions.

Whatever might be the outcome, political observers saw all sorts of ramifications.

Among them, for example, was the possibility of intra-party strife for Governor Williams into the fall and perhaps beyond.

Wayne Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien, himself a Democrat, said he would investigate the fraud charges.

Heretofore, Wayne county election officials haven't been willing to do that. They have contended they lacked legal authority to do anything about the matter.

O'Brien made his statement after he was reported to have been shown 265 delegate petitions questioned for "fraud."

Onetime Detroit mayoralty candidate George Edwards, as attorney for a Democratic group alleging the fraud, gave O'Brien the charges.

Police testified Macheetto was not exactly broke in his pockets when they found $6,866.03.

Battle Of Taegu In Critical Phase

(By The Associated Press)

American planes, big guns and doughboys have slowed down Communist flanking attacks on Taegu, but the North Koreans massed five divisions—50,000 or more men—on a front eight to 12 miles north of the advance United Nations base today. An American officer said the next 48 hours could bring the decision in the battle for Taegu.

Planes and artillery poured deadly fire into a 100-yard-wide no-man's land after the Reds pushed a wedge into United Nations defenses north of Taegu. Enemy dead piled up before counterattacking United States and South Korean troops who battled to prevent a breakthrough which would allow Communists to descend upon their prime target, the Taegu road and rail junctions.

The Communists added their second and 15th divisions to the first, third and 13th on the front north of Taegu and poised at least 14 tanks, while Americans and South Koreans braced for what might soon be the all-out North Korean general offensive. It may be started with a heavy lunge at the American right flank against the United States 27th Infantry regiment.

"Critical Phase"

The Reds, who lost 11 tanks in four days in the sector, jabbed and probed at several places along the right flank after a regimental attack was halted Tuesday by air and artillery fire. One probing attack stabbed five miles behind American positions.

"This is a critical phase," said Col. John Michaelis, commanding the 27th "Wolfhound" regiment. "If we stop them we will break the back of this drive."

An allied air, artillery and tank attack early Wednesday had pushed the forward Communists back, but one Red spearhead was within eight miles of Taegu, threatening United States supply lines. The Reds held higher ground and poured heavy fire into the attacking United Nations forces, while their infiltrators stabbed at artillery and infantry positions with mortar, machine-gun and small arms fire. He told the Cape Cod Cranberry Growers association yesterday that the 1950 crop will be the largest in history.

Truman's Ex-Secretary Named In Sugar 'Fraud'

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The senate crime committee today studied testimony that President Truman's former secretary received money in 1945 to help a candy manufacturer get a wartime sugar quota.

David Lubben, the candy man, told the committee he paid $1,000 and $1,500 to Victor Messall, the former secretary, but failed to get the quota.

Lubben testified he was told Frank Livorsi and William J. Giglio could get him the quota, if he accepted them as partners. He said he sold them a half interest in the firm for $35,000 or $40,000 in the spring of 1945, but learned later they were associated with Frank Costello. The committee has heard Costello described as a prior hearings as baron of the slot machine racket.

Finally, Lubben said, he got out of the firm, losing most of the money he had invested in it.

Committee Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said it all added up to

Negaunee Cited For Failing To End Pollution

LANSING —(AP)—The state water resources commission, moving against 10 communities, and one industry for pollution of public waters, today sought court action against Bay City for alleged violation of an abatement order.

The commission asked the attorney general to seek an injunction to prevent further sewage pollution by Bay City and to compel the city to construct treatment facilities.

The Cliffs-Dow Chemical Company of Marquette was ordered to appear at a hearing in Marquette Sept. 26 on an order to abate tar and oil pollution by June 1, 1951.

Negaunee was cited for failure to control sewage and called to a hearing in Marquette Sept. 27 on an order to abate pollution by Oct. 1, 1952, with plans to be submitted by June 1, 1951.

Coastal Storm Blows Self Out

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—The second hurricane of the season has blown itself out.

The tropical storm, spawned in the same general area as hurricane No. 1, degenerated into a wide squall area in the eastern Caribbean sea last night after smashing tiny Antigua island with 120-mile an hour winds.

Observers said the storm was little more than a series of gusty squalls with winds of 30 to 35 miles an hour in the roughest spots.

Both the Virgin islands and Puerto Rico were buffeted by gusty winds and heavy rain, but nothing like the full-fledged hurricane which hit Antigua the night before.

Study Plan To End Post Of Coronor

LANSING —(AP)—The state's "Little Hoover Commission" proposed tentatively today to eliminate the historic office of coronor in Michigan.

The commission, studying reorganization of state government, expressed the establishment, instead, of a medical examiner system as used in Massachusetts.

The group debated three staff reports but reached no decisions.

A sub-committee headed by Prof. William Haber of the University of Michigan was reported to have "leaned" toward a staff proposal to combine all state labor-interest agencies into two departments, one of industrial relations and the other the unemployment compensation commission.

The staff had proposed alternatively that all be combined in one agency.

The commission rejected the proposal of Augustus J. Christie, Jr., executive secretary of the Detroit public school employees' retirement fund, against a proposal to include that in any state retirement fund merger. He objected that it was not a state function, but the committee concluded that 27 per cent of the Detroit fund comes from the state.

A sub-committee headed by federal Judge Raymond W. Starr, recommended the state police "work toward" placing its troops on an eight-hour day, five days a week. They now work 10 to 12 hours a day, six days a week.

Snubbed By Senate, Hook Resigns Job

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Frank E. Hook, former House member from Michigan, has resigned the federal job to which the Senate had refused to confirm him — member of the motor carriers claims commission.

Hook had served on the commission under a recess appointment made Oct. 27, 1949, by President Truman. Hook said he could not afford to work without pay.

Hook was one of four men the Senate recently refused in a single day to confirm for jobs to which Mr. Truman had named them.

Phone Rate Boost Termed Unwarranted

BATTLE CREEK —(AP)—Attorney General Stephen Roth criticized the rate increase granted Michigan Bell Telephone company in a talk before the United Civic Affairs committee last night.

"The Republican majority on the public service commission granted the increase despite findings that the increase was not warranted," Roth said.

"Staff members of the commission, who are public employees and not politicians, studied the propriety of the increase and recommended against it."

Roth pointed out that since 1948 the public service commission has granted Michigan Bell annual increases totaling 22 million dollars.

The attorney general said he plans legal action in the Ingham county circuit court to challenge the rate increase and added he would continue to ask for a rehearing.

In 1945, he said, the public service commission decided that Michigan Bell was making "too much money" and voted an $11,000,000 rebate to customers.

Rail Strike Paralyzes Canada

(By The Associated Press)

A general strike in Canada and local stoppages in the United States affecting rail systems of the two nations continued today.

Canada, with its rail and telegraph service paralyzed, was speeding the start of a special session of parliament called to deal with Korea war problems, so the strike may receive early attention by legislators.

In the dominion, direct negotiations between the carriers and representatives of 17 striking non-operating unions were at a standstill. Employees on strike numbered 124,000, and 200,000 more workers including members of the operating unions, were made idle.

No progress was reported toward settlement of the dispute between 300,000 conductors and trainmen and railroads in the United States strike situation. But, as President Truman's labor trouble — shooter, John R. Steelman, continued efforts for an agreement, union leaders declared a conditional moratorium on any spread of the five token strikes.

The trainmen and conductors have caused five-day shutdowns at the Cleveland, Louisville and Minneapolis-St. Paul terminals, and tied up the steel-hauling Pittsburgh and Lake Erie route at Pittsburgh and the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern line at Chicago.

The Canadian strikers are seeking a work week reduction from 48 to 40 hours without pay loss, and wage raises. The 40-hour week is an issue in the United States dispute, for yard service trainmen, and all members of both unions are seeking increased pay.

In New York, CIO newspaper guild members last night accepted a settlement ending their strike against the New York World-Telegram which started June 13. One of the concessions in the agreement was a job freeze for one year. Other terms included

On truck crops, the report said that the coldness of the past two weeks has had a direct detrimental effect on some crops and has benefited others.

"Corn in all areas has tasseled about 90 to 95 per cent, and is looking very good in spite of the cool summer," it continued. "Sugar beets continue to look good."

Potatoes, the observers reported, also look very good in the central area.

"Brakie" Gets Spin On Hot Rod Freight

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)—A Pennsylvania railroad brakeman took a wild ride on a runaway freight car for five city blocks yesterday, passing intersections ordinarily teeming with traffic.

The brakeman, Carl Bitzer, 35, escaped injury as the freight car leaped the tracks and came to a halt on soft dirt.

Bitzer was riding on top of the car at the forward end of a line of empties being switched onto a siding when the car's coupling gave way.

He applied the hand brake without success and then hung on as the car gathered momentum.

A repair crew hauled the freight car back into the tracks while Bitzer returned to work, little the worse for his experience.

Leonard Against Security Squad

LANSING —(AP)—State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard has sided with Republican legislators and against Governor Williams in a dispute over creation of a state police security squad.

Leonard told the house ways and means committee that it would be useless to appropriate money for such a squad unless it also were given statutory authority to hire secret informers and agents and to maintain secret files.

Williams has opposed this authority, contending it would turn the state police into a "gestapo" filled with "stool pigeons and spies." G.O.P. leaders had favored the idea.

Leonard said that if the state police did not have legal authority for secret files and investigation the Federal Bureau of Investigation would not make secret information available to it.

ROSEVILLE —(AP)—Police Chief Michael Miller said today that seven-year-old Dickie Knier told his dad he shot his little sister to death in a game of "Hopalong Cassidy."

Four-year-old Karen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knier, died shortly after midnight in St. Joseph's Mercy hospital at St. Clements.

A .22 calibre rifle had been stored on the porch where the two children were playing Monday afternoon.

Before Karen died authorities said she muttered: "Dickie... bullets... boom."

At first Dickie denied shooting her. Miller said he finally became hysterical and told his father what had happened.

Husbands Facing More Troubles

PASADENA, Calif. —(AP)—Greasy spoon restaurants and henpecked husbands may soon be at the mercy of a new type lamp.

The lamp—using "black light" mercury—can detect sloppy dishwashing.

It was explained in a talk to lighting engineers yesterday by Alston Rodgers, who helped design the lamp for use by Cleveland health department inspectors.

"A dish may look perfectly clean," said Rodgers, "but unless dish washers have been careful, the lamp's ultra-violet rays will show it to be dotted with particles that shine in the dark."

If the little woman starts using it—husbands, beware!

Street Closing Favored Here

Area Needed For Housing Project

Closing one block of South 14th avenue and reducing the width of another block to provide additional area for a low cost housing development here was recommended last night by the Escanaba planning commission.

The Escanaba Foundation, which has options to purchase 18 lots in the area between South 13th and 14th streets and South 13th and 15th avenues, asked the planning commission for a ruling on this. The area is needed because lots in that section are only 50 feet wide, and 60-foot lots are needed for the housing units.

Contract for construction of the Harnischfeger, pre-fabricated houses was awarded by the foundation to Erling Arntzen of Escanaba yesterday afternoon. Arntzen offered the lowest of four bids.

The Escanaba foundation and the Escanaba housing committee, of which M. N. Smith is chairman, was to meet this afternoon to determine when construction of the houses would be started. The houses will be built by the foundation and then sold to individuals.

Other business before the planning commission, at a special meeting Tuesday night, was a request from Ben Yagodinzi, for obtaining some city-owned or dock property through purchase or long-term lease. Yagodinzi operates a sawmill north of the C&NW viaduct and plans to begin manufacturing furniture.

The planning commission recommended a short-term lease on city property for the Yagodinzi plant, with the provision that if the area was needed by a large industry the lease would be revoked. The mill operator indicated he was not interested in a short term lease. His plant is located on property obtained from the C&NW railroad on a short term lease, the commission was informed.

HAZARDOUS AT NIGHT

The death rate per accident on highways at night is estimated to be 51 per cent greater than that occurring in daylight, although there is only one-fifth the traffic.

TO MINNEAPOLIS—Rev. L. R. Lund who has served as pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church of Escanaba and Trinity Lutheran church, Stonington, since 1937, has resigned from the pastorate to accept a call to be pastor of the Ebenezer Old People's Home in Minneapolis.

He and Mrs. Lund plan to leave Escanaba the latter part of October.

Rev. Lund came to Escanaba from Rockford, Ill., where he was pastor of Our Saviour's Lutheran church, to succeed Rev. Knute Knutsen. He has successfully administered the affairs of the two parishes and also has been active in the Marinette district of the denomination serving as president of Marinette district of the Lutheran Free church.

The Lunds' new home will be near that of their daughter, Mrs. Orville Hognander, the former Gertrude Lund, who previous to her marriage was a music teacher in the Escanaba public schools.

The pastor's successor to the Escanaba and Stonington pastorate has not yet been named.

Rock Hot Lunch Program To Begin With School Year

ROCK—The hot lunch program in the Rock school will be in full operation soon after the opening of school, it was announced today.

Beginning Wednesday, September 6, students from the kindergarten through the third grade will be served. As soon as additional cooks can be engaged others will be added to the list. It is the plan of the board of education to serve lunch to all grades within a few months after school is in operation.

The school kitchen is about complete. The board has purchased equipment including a work table, three compartment sink, two compartment sink, electric mixer and slicer, salad master, potato peeler, garbage disposal unit, electric stove, refrigerator, dishes and flatware and aluminum cooking pots and pans. Purchase of an electric dish washer is planned eventually as the total number of meals served each day will be between 325 and 400.

Use of the Lions' club tables will be requested by the board until it is possible to add tables to the equipment already secured.

Cooperation has been assured the board by Walter Mannie, Maple Ridge township supervisor, and Osmo Aalto, Ewing supervisor.

Master Plan Change Denied

New Site Must Be Chosen For Plant

A proposal to change the city master plan to provide a site for erection of a sausage plant was rejected by the Escanaba planning commission at a special meeting last night.

Commission members declared it would be a mistake to "piece out" the area east of the fairgrounds for industrial use. The property, they maintained, can best be developed as residential area.

The commission discussed rezoning the area for residential use but could not agree on the amount of property to be included in the re-zoning. Further study of the problem will be made by the planning staff and the commission.

City-owned property on North 21st street, between North 11th and 11th avenues, zoned as industrial area but reserved in the master plan for future residential use, was sought by Robert Vollwerth of Hancock for establishment of a sausage plant here.

The planning commission pointed out that private property in the city, outside the residential area, was available for construction of this plant.

The Vollwerth company planned to erect a 200 by 200 foot building in the area for use as a garage, smoker and locker. About 10 persons would be employed in the plant.

William Roberts, Of Grand Marais, Killed In Action

GRAND MARAIS — Word has been received here by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Roberts that their eldest grandchild, William Louis Roberts, was killed in action in Korea.

William was born in Newberry June 29, 1932 and attended schools in Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie and Grand Marais before going to Ita Jima in the South Pacific in 1948 with his family. His stepfather, Joseph David Swiontek had been stationed in Korea but asked for a transfer to Ita Jima so that his family could join him.

William enlisted with the U. S. Army in Ita Jima in March, 1950, three months before his eighteenth birthday and in his junior year of high school.

Surviving him are his mother, Mrs. Joseph David Swiontek, brother Jack, and sister Barbara Jean. They are being evacuated to the states and are believed to be unaware of William's death. Joseph David is still serving with the army in the South Pacific.

2 Bicyclists Hit By Cars

Two Escanaba bicycle riders were injured this week when they were hit by cars.

Joan McCloskey, 13, daughter of the Ray McCloskeys, 313 South 19th street, suffered a bruised right foot when she was hit at 4:45 p. m., Tuesday by a car driven by John Kilstrom of 1706 Third avenue south.

Joan was taken to St. Francis hospital for treatment and was dismissed after x-ray examination revealed no bones were broken. The accident occurred at the intersection of Third avenue south and 17th street. Both were traveling west on Third avenue south. Kilstrom had just backed from his driveway.

City police received a report yesterday afternoon that Donna Mae Berthume, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Berthume, 1314 Second avenue north, was hit by a car backing from the curb on First avenue north Sunday night about 7:30 p. m. The Berthume girl was brought home by neighbors in the 100 block of North 14th street. The driver of the car is not known. Donna Mae suffered slight bruises.

Both bicycles were damaged considerably. The Berthume girl did not tell her parents, who were away when she was brought home, of the accident until yesterday.

Briefly Told

Second Lieut. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, who have been visiting with Lt. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Anderson, 903 South 14th street, left this morning for Spokane air force base, Spokane, Wash. Lt. Anderson has been employed by Consoer and Townsend in Benton Harbor, Mich., as a civil engineer.

Car Fire.—City firemen were called to 517 First avenue north at 5 a. m., today to extinguish fire which had started in the cushions of a car owned by Rayne LaMarch. The car was completely destroyed, firemen report.

Election School.—City and township clerks in Delta county have been notified by Mr. Mary Constantineau, deputy Delta county clerk, to advise their election inspectors of an instruction meeting to be held at 2 p. m., Sept. 6 in the court house at Escanaba. The instruction session is in preparation for the Sept. 12 primary election.

New Offices Will Be Made At City Police Station

Two new offices are being constructed in the city police station in the southeast portion of the building, formerly occupied by two cell blocks.

City workers removed the cells early this week and Escanaba carpenters now are remodeling the room to provide offices for the director of public safety and for the dog, bicycle and motorist license bureau.

The room will be completely redecorated. Work is expected to be completed within two weeks.

City police seldom used the cell blocks in this portion of the building. Two other cell blocks, on the opposite side of the building, will be retained. Today the latter were occupied by two young men, too intoxicated to take physical examinations at the U. S. Army induction center here.

Traffic Violations Bring Fines To Two

Andrew Christopherson, 1312 North 22nd street, and Emory Juneau, 309 South 13th street, each were fined $2 when arraigned in justice court this week on traffic violations.

Juneau was ticketed by city police Monday afternoon for failure to stop for an arterial highway. Juneau's car hit a car driven by Harry Lencour of Route One, Gladstone, which was traveling west on First avenue north, and a car owned by Ernest DeLoe of Gladstone. Juneau was traveling south on North 10th street. Damage to the three cars is estimated at $300.

Christopherson was ticketed for making an improper turn when his car collided with a car driven by Norbert Springer of Wyandotte, in the 600 block of Stephenson avenue, Monday afternoon.

Late Season, Frost Hit U. P. Crop Production

Already damaged by August frosts, Upper Peninsula crops now maturing late because of the retarded growing season would be seriously hit if killing frosts strike the region within the next few weeks.

R. E. Horwood, superintendent of the agricultural experiment station at Chatham and director of extension service in the Upper Peninsula, said today that crops are generally late in the U. P. and greater damage will occur if heavy frost should strike again.

"We have not yet determined how extensive the recent frost damage is," Horwood said. "We know that beans were touched and that potatoes have been damaged somewhat. Frost damage to corn is evident at Trenary."

Cut Pasture Value.
Frost retards grass growth and lowers its nutrients, Horwood added. Because much of the pasture in the region is in the frost-hit low areas, the result may be reflected in lower milk production or mean increased feeding of grain or hay from the barn.

Farmers have not yet started to cut their grain. Last year the grain harvest had been completed by this time.

"From one standpoint the cool weather and adequate moisture is good for hay and grain—if it can be harvested," Horwood commented.

Bean Crop Damaged.
The Coleman Canning company at Gladstone, which has contracts for 287 acres of beans in Delta county, has been bringing surplus beans in from Wisconsin for processing. Beans from Delta county just started coming in about a week ago, but the run is still light compared to last year at this time when the plant was operating at capacity.

Louis Berro, field man for the Coleman Canning company, reported that an inspection of bean fields in Delta county yesterday revealed an estimated 10 per cent loss due to frost damage.

Besides the frost damage, the unfavorable season has cut the bean crop another 10 per cent, making a total estimated 20 per cent loss under last year's crop, Berro reported.

The tomato acreage under contract with the canning company so far has not been frost damaged in Delta county, Berro added. But the crop is just now beginning to ripen. This is two weeks later than last year despite the planting of an earlier variety in 1950.

Horwood at Chatham said experiments are being conducted there in the use of a hormone to set the fruit on the blossoms, which does not occur naturally when the temperature is low.

"We can see definite results from the test," Horwood reported. "There is a very poor set of fruit except where the hormone was used."

Temperatures slightly above and below freezing have been reported several times from various sections of the Upper Peninsula and even far downstate. Damage downstate, particularly to the corn crop, may be more extensive than in the Upper Peninsula because the crops are more advanced.

If general killing frosts hold off in the U. P. until crops mature, average or better production may result. The average killing frost date in the Upper Peninsula is Sept. 16.

Next Few Weeks Of Korean War Are Fateful Ones For World

THE next few weeks are fateful ones for world peace. The Communists of North Korea have lost the initiative in the Korean battleground and it is now improbable that they will be able to complete the con-

Combat Infantrymen Deserve Extra Pay

IT has been some time now since anybody has referred to what is going on in Korea as a "police action."

The foxholes there are just as muddy and uncomfortable as the ones the American G. I.'s dug back in what is now being called "the other war."

When it rains, which is often, it is just as miserable as it was in Normandy and St. Lo. The sun and the jungle rot and the "bloody nose" ridges are just as relentless as they were at Guadalcanal and Iwo Jima. The scream of artillery shells, the whine of a sniper's bullet, bring on the same cold sweat and are no less fatal in the hands of North Koreans than they were in the hands of Nazis and Japs.

And who gets the biggest mouthful of all this?

The infantryman. The doughboy. The dogface. The nicety of fighting under the flag of the United Nations is a little bit lost on G. I. Joe, pinned on his belly while somebody else from north of the 38th parallel lobbs mortar shells all over his neighborhood.

Combat is the infantryman's job, 24 hours a day. And since he's doing that job, he is beginning to wonder what's happened to the extra $10 a month he got for being a combat infantryman in that "other war."

Back in Washington they're busy with defense figures that run into billions, and a 10-dollar bill is easy to lose in the shuffle.

For that matter, it isn't very much money—except to the infantryman. It's combat pay, and he's in combat, and he feels he has it coming to him.

"We're fighting for the same principles as the guys in the last war," a private on the Korean front line told one war correspondent the other day. "We're taking the same stuff as they did. Why ain't we getting the 10 bucks a month they did?"

They've started giving those front-line G. I.'s combat infantrymen's badges now. So the foot soldier's firm belief that he's been in combat all along in Korea must be official.

Somebody better pass the word to the paymaster, too.

Wage, Price Controls Must Be Together

THE U. S. Senate Monday approved legislation to authorize the president to invoke wage and price controls and also to ration commodities if the war situation should require these steps for home front mobilization.

The House previously had approved similar legislation. The Senate, however, approved a provision which would require President Truman to invoke wage and price controls simultaneously if they are to be invoked at all. This was not contained in the House bill.

The reasoning behind the Senate-approved clause to require wage and price controls to be invoked simultaneously is readily apparent. Price control without wage control is meaningless and, of course, the reverse is equally true. It simply is not practical to freeze wages but let prices climb and it is also impractical to control prices but not wages. These factors in our economy are necessarily tied together.

The administration opposed the Senate action, preferring authority to invoke controls on either wages or prices selectively. Such a course of action would be unwise and it would certainly be unjust.

Questions and Answers

Q—What species of big game are becoming extinct?

A—In North America, the moose, caribou, and grizzly bear are rare. The bison and sea otter grow in number, but there are few of them. The trumpeter swan, the whooping crane and the California condor are rare birds. The Alaskan brown bear is being killed off rapidly. Whales, making their last stand in the Antarctic, are declining in numbers.

Q—Has a stamp been issued honoring the railroad hero, Casey Jones?

A—A new 3-cent stamp bearing the likeness of Casey Jones, is one of 12 special issues authorized this year. It honors the nation's railroad engineers—with Casey as their symbol.

Big Eyes

When your appetite is failing and you need a catin' hunch, you may choose a cafeteria as just the place to lunch. Though you've got a certain diet, there's a lot of food to see, and you suddenly discover you're as hungry as can be. Then your terrible starvation is reflected in your eyes, which are bigger than your stomach, even though it's oversize.

Now the thing that tempts your palate is the way that food's arrayed, and you're reaching out for almost every morsel there displayed. There's a choice of appetizers and you just can't pass them by, and you see a lot of tasty meats you'd like to give a try. By the time you reach the pastry, you have picked a man-sized meal, but you take a piece of pie with undeniable appeal.

So surrounded with your dishes you attack your waiting food, and ere long you realize, you've got a task of magnitude. By the time you reach the pie, your belt is something to adjust, and you know that if you eat some more, you'll surely like to bust. You have once again been fooled by your appreciating eyes, which were bigger than your stomach, even though it's oversize.

Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON—It has been hushed up, but the FBI clapped another suspected subversive agent in jail last week. He is William Wolfe Weisband of Arlington, Va., who was arrested in Los Angeles after being trailed by government agents for months.

Weisband was employed for seven years as an analyst in one of the government's top-secret defense agencies. For security reasons, we have been asked not to identify the agency or the nature of its highly classified work.

It can be revealed, however, that Weisband was abruptly suspended, without pay, last May as a bad security risk. Shortly after his suspension, Weisband and his wife drove to California "to see a friend."

The FBI had the pair under constant surveillance all the way from Washington to Los Angeles.

As Weisband was preparing to return to Washington, he was subpoenaed by a Los Angeles federal grand jury investigating espionage. At that time he was asked only a few perfunctory questions—his name, age, home address, etc. He was ordered to come before the grand jury one week later, for further questioning.

An August 2, Weisband received a third summons to appear before the Los Angeles grand jury. He decided to comply with this order and returned to the west coast. Upon his arrival on August 16, he was arrested and jailed on a technical charge of contempt, for failing to respond to the second subpoena.

A stocky, dark-haired man in his early forties, Weisband is a Russian-born, naturalized American. Before the war he was a hotel clerk in Los Angeles. In 1942 he entered the army and was later commissioned a lieutenant.

(Note: Weisband's pretty, raven-haired wife, a North Carolina girl whom he married 18 months ago, was also fired from the same government agency. However, the FBI does not suspect her of being mixed up in any spying.)

VOTELESS AMERICANS

The world looks upon Washington as the heart and hope of democracy, yet here are some unbelievable facts about the U. S. capital: Only two capital cities outside the iron curtain do not permit their citizens to vote—Washington, D. C. and Canberra, Australia. . . . Our American forefathers fought the Revolution because they were forced to pay taxes without representation. Yet, today, D. C. residents pay more federal taxes than those in 25 of the 48 states, still get no voice in how those taxes are spent. . . . Congress has granted suffrage to the natives of Guam, but still denies it to the citizens of the national capital. . . . Because American citizens living in Washington have no vote, Congress must take time out to decide petty, municipal problems. Last year Congress spent more than 3,000 hours on local district matters. . . . For example, it took acts of Congress to govern the sale of rock fish, to determine whether butter should be served at St. Elizabeth's hospital, and to decide what to do about a herd of goats in the District of Columbia. . . . Once Congress had to interrupt the debate on the Marshall plan to give D. C. officials the right to tear down a pair of old gateposts. . . . A Gallup poll shows that the public overwhelmingly favors giving their fellow Americans in Washington the right to vote. Both the Republican and Democratic parties have pledged home rule for the people of Washington. Yet Congress has ignored all this and pigeonholed the "home rule" bill.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

THAT-WHICH-WHO

The relative pronouns that, which, and who should really be called "pronouns of introduction," for they serve the purpose of introducing clauses that contain further information, as, "He motioned toward the cloud that was darkening the sky."

But shouldn't it be, "... which was darkening the sky?"

Should one say, "The man who was talking," or, "... that was talking?"

Grammars are pretty vague about the usage, if, indeed, they attempt to explain it. But since that, which, and who are indispensable, we greatly need an understandable rule. And by "understandable," I mean, of course, nongrammatical.

That introduces a statement that is essential to the completion of the sentence. Which and who introduce statements that merely describe or explain and which are not essential to the meaning of the sentence.

Example One: Essential to the meaning.

My house is the only one that was left standing.

Obviously the sentence would have no meaning at all if it read, "My house is the only one." Therefore "... that was left standing" is essential to the meaning.

Example Two: Not essential to the meaning.

My house was left standing, which is fortunate.

"My house was left standing" is a complete and understandable sentence. "Which is fortunate" in no way is essential to the meaning—it merely adds my non-essential and perfectly obvious expression of gratitude over the fact that the house escaped destruction.

Example Three: Not essential to the meaning.

My son, who is in college, is majoring in English.

The essential fact is contained in the statement, "My son is majoring in English." The explanation "who is in college" not only is non-essential, it is almost unnecessary as well, for, strictly speaking, one "majors" only in working toward a degree. On the other hand, if the sentence had read, "My son, who is in college, is the one that is majoring in English," it would plainly call for that instead of who, for without "that is majoring in English" the sentence would be meaningless.

Snug Harbor, Haven For Sailors, Is Still Piling Up Fabulous Wealth

"HOME IS THE SAILOR, home from the sea" means a life of ease, comfort and security for many American merchant seamen because of a fabulously rich philanthropic institution which draws its resources from many blocks of the most expensive New York real estate, once the farm of Captain Randall. This large church is one of the scores of buildings which make up the Harbor, one of the few charitable organizations in the world that never has any money troubles. In fact, Daniel Webster once tried to break the Randall will so that the funds could be used for other purposes, but without success. Many well known famous structures in downtown Manhattan are Sailor's Snug Harbor properties.

By HERBERT HOLLANDER

This is the story of a unique charitable institution, now over a century old, which literally has more money, much more money, than it knows what to do with.

It is a story which, quite aside from its interest as an example of one of the few charities with funds so vast that they really constitute a problem, has a special timeliness now that so many Americans are considering merchant shipping as a career.

One hundred and seventeen years ago, thirty weather-beaten old salts laboriously shouldered their seaboards and, with the rolling gait of men who have sailed for years before the mast, made their way to the north shore of Staten Island, N. Y.

There they were to sail into what actually was to be the snug harbor of all their wanderings about the world. For they were to acquire permanent billets as charter members of Sailors' Snug Harbor.

Founded by Capt. Randall

Since then, thousands like them also have been guests of this remarkable retreat, and today hundreds of "ancient mariners" are partaking of the extraordinary munificence of an almost legendary figure in maritime history, Captain Richard Randall. It was Randall who founded Sailors' Snug Harbor, which has grown from modest beginnings to one of the showplaces of the great island (largest but most sparsely populated of the five boroughs) which is lapped by the waves of New York Bay.

Those charged with perpetuation of Randall's idea, although required to render an annual report to the State Legislature, do not go to any lengths to advertise the resources of Sailors' Snug Harbor. But it is known that they must mount into the many millions. They are represented mainly by solid blocks of some of the choicest real estate in downtown Manhattan. Estimates during depression times placed the value at more than $30,000,000, a figure which has risen far above that today. The natural income of such a gold mine is so much more than sufficient to maintain the home and the extensive property owned that investment of the surplus has become an increasingly serious problem—a situation in which the trustees of very few charities ever find themselves.

It is inevitable that such wealth should not escape covetous eyes and there have been attempts to break the will by which its destiny was fixed; or at least to divert some of the golden flood into other worthy channels. All have failed, however, the inviolability of the trust created by Captain Randall finally being pronounced by the U. S. Supreme Court.

For the genesis of Sailors' Snug Harbor one must go back to colonial days when there prospered in New York one Thomas Randall, a famous sea captain. Many stirring legends cluster around his name and tales of his adventures both as a privateer before the Revolution and a U. S. naval hero during that war. And, later, as an important social figure of New York he was among those who contributed to the gift of a handsome barge for the use of the First President when George Washington made his way there for his inauguration.

Randall, now determined to retire, purchased a 21-acre farm on the edge of Bowery Lane, the purchase price being about $12,000. That was the beginning of Sailors' Snug Harbor; and there the old man lived the life of a country gentleman. In 1797 he died and the property descended to his son, Robert Randall, actual founder of the Harbor.

Hamilton Wrote Will

Even less is known about Robert than his father, but he too followed the sea and probably increased his father's holdings. These included the original Minto farm, located on the ground now bounded, roughly, by Fourth and Tenth streets. Famous Washington Square, Grace Church and the John Wannamaker store are on its boundaries, while innumerable important business structures stand upon it, eternally pouring forth money for support of Sailors' Snug Harbor.

In 1801, Robert Randall knew his end was approaching and he summoned his friend, Alexander Hamilton, the financial genius of the young United States, to draw his will. The dying man made some personal bequests and then directed that everything remaining of his estate, both real and personal, be devoted to the establishment of "an asylum, or marine hospital, to be called The Sailors' Snug Harbor, for the purpose of maintaining and supporting aged, decrepit and worn-out sailors." He calculated that the funds would be sufficient to care for fifty such men.

To carry out his wishes, Capt. Randall named as trustees the chancellor of the State, the mayor and the recorder of New York City, the president of the State Chamber of Commerce, the president of the Marine Society, the rector of Trinity Church and the minister of the First Presbyterian church.

Four days later Capt. Randall died, but five years passed before the trustees were incorporated. Meantime the first attempts to break the will were begun. For a generation, relatives and other persons claiming to be heirs contested its provisions but so carefully had it been drafted by Hamilton they did not succeed, even when they engaged the mighty Daniel Webster to carry the matter to the highest court in the land. There all doubt about the validity of the instrument was forever removed.

All this litigation, of course, had delayed even selection of the site for the home. Finally, in 1831, the trustees purchased a beautiful land and water site in what is now West New Brighton, commanding a view of the Kill Van Kull, whose waters wash its shores. In this the foresight of those early trustees did much to bring about the present affluence of the institution. The will had stipulated that the Harbor was to be located on the Manhattan farm held by the trustees, envisioning the skyrocketing of realty values that was to come, convinced the legislature that they should be permitted to lease that property and acquire less expensive land elsewhere upon which to rear the refuge.

Over 30 Buildings
By 1833 the first unit of buildings which eventually were to cover about 100 acres was ready for the first guests. Today there are more than thirty imposing structures on the land. They include many dormitories, a fine theater, handsome churches, a modern hospital, a sanitarium, mess hall and governor's residence. All the buildings are substantial stone and brick structures, in which are provided, thanks to the liberal endowment of the Harbor, every convenience for the comfort and happiness of the old sailors. A farm on the land largely supplies the table.

Most of the buildings having been constructed during that era, there is a Victorian atmosphere clinging about Sailors' Snug Harbor that is not lessened by the aspect of the aging guests. They have about them that aura of salt air that makes the beholder associate them more readily with the days of "wooden ships and iron men" rather than with the electrically-driven steel vessels of the

FOR THEIR BENEFIT—A friend of mine, after reading a recent column on midway rackets at the U. P. State Fair, told me I had made one mistake.

There was a "benefit" charity racket operated by one of the licensed concessioners, he reported.

The touch was put on folks by three men wearing what appeared to be U. S. Marine Corps overseas caps. Their approach was to put themselves in front of a prospect and hold out a small flag, with the words: "Can you help out a buddy?"

People gave generously, as did my friend, thinking the contribution was for the benefit of disabled war veterans.

NOT THE VETERANS—This friend of mine decided to check into the sale of the flags and went to the office of the U. P. State Fair, where he discovered that the man in charge of licensing the concessions knew absolutely nothing about the three flag salesmen.

There had been no previous correspondence with them. They had bought, for $100, the right to operate on the grounds—and no questions asked.

Those three flag salesmen did not represent any veterans' organization. The money they received from big-hearted fair patrons went to the salesmen, not to disabled veterans.

"Isn't it the responsibility of the fair board to check on the legitimacy of the concessions?" asked my friend.

"I know that as far as I am concerned, I'll hesitate before giving again to anyone who gives me the impression he is working for the veterans," he added.

LEFT SIDE UP?—Let's leave the U. P. State Fair and turn our sights on Washington, D. C., where a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations is sitting tight on the question of reporting out for discussion the Atlantic Union Resolution.

Stellanova Osborn, widow of the late Chase S. Osborn, and a forthright exponent of federation by the democracies of the world, writes from Sault Ste. Marie:

"While the malice of the Kremlin is broadcast throughout the world from Lake Success, the attempt of the free peoples to discuss the possibility of their union-for-strength is strangled in our own Congress at Washington.

"Our attempt merely to have our own Congress discuss this possibility is choked. The subcommittee which was created to find and report means of strengthening our foreign position, has held hearings and weighed proposals but done nothing for a year.

"Whose command—and whose advice—blocks the Atlantic Union Resolution from discussion on the floor of Congress?"

THE TOUCHY SPOT—Mrs. Osborn pokes an inquiring pen into one of Washington's most tender spots—its state department.

"This is not a matter of McCarthyism or red-herringism," she declares.

"A sense of deadly danger arouses us to ask, what has stopped the machinery of this subcommittee that last winter was grinding furiously to find something to strengthen our foreign position?"

"There is something upside down in Washington as well as at the United Nations," she continues, referring to Russia's use of the Security Council as an opportunity for Communist propaganda.

"The hands so strong to throttle us at Lake Success are not followed on Capital Hill. If we cannot control those hands exposed, how dare we pretend to believe we can control those under cover at Washington.

"The ruthless fingers that are strangling the Security Council have every reason to strangle discussion of federation by the democracies. It will be fatal if we do not face the incredible facts."

(Briefly, Atlantic Union proposes that the democracies of the world join in a federation for their mutual defense. The plan has already been approved by the Canadian Senate.)

"Your help is needed. Write to the President of the United States, White House, Washington, D. C. Ask that the Atlantic Union Resolution be released for debate on the floor of Congress, with no further delay," Mrs. Osborn urges.

Store Retails Work Of Disabled

MOOSE JAW, Sask. — A new retail store will sell merchandise manufactured at the disabled civilians' workshop here. It employs a staff of 24, of whom 20 are disabled, and produces about $48,000 worth of goods a year. These include silk and rayon dresses, cotton house dresses, sheets, pillow slips, coveralls, babies' diapers, nurses' and waiters' uniforms, and hospital garments.

Both the store and workshop are jointly owned by the Saskatchewan government and the handicapped civilians' Association of Saskatchewan.

Admiral Conolly, who is commander-in-chief, U. S. Naval forces, Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, was present aboard the cruiser, which is his flagship, when the pennant was broken out during ceremonies at the Island of Cyprus in the Mediterranean.

Enlisted members of the ship's company are now authorized to wear for one year the coveted "E" emblem on the right sleeves of their uniforms, signifying the part they played in earning the award.

Taegu Battle Considered In Critical Phase

pilots raked these enemy forces. American forces then broke up a small roadblock near Tabu, 11 miles north of Taegu.

On the southern front along the coastal approach to Pusan, main United Nations supply base, the 25th United States Infantry division has beaten back two light Red assaults, but the threat west of Masan, 27 air miles from Pusan, still was menacing. This is the shortest route for the Reds to Pusan.

Red Colonel Surrenders

Two North Korean officers now prisoners of war have given indications that morale among the North Korean forces is bad. A 27-year-old lieutenant colonel who commanded a Red artillery regiment, walked into South Korean lines and surrendered, saying that "I don't want to see all Korea run the way the Communists now run it." He said most of his regiment would like to surrender "but they are too closely watched by secret political agents in the army." A captured captain freely admitted the North Koreans started the war and that his outfit had a Russian adviser. Both officers had served in the Communist Manchurian army.

Another prisoner said he had fought for three days without food or water because of supply difficulties.

Again today allied planes lashed at Red targets. B-29s hit at three northern east coast cities—Chongjin, 60 miles from Siberia. Songjin and Hamhung. The Superforts also blasted rail yards at Pyongyang, the northern capital.

Two Russian-built Yak fighter planes attacked the British destroyer Comus Tuesday, but the ship was reported undamaged. Two Yaks hit at South Korean naval units in the Yellow sea Wednesday.

In the security council, anti-Communist delegates studied Russia's latest blasts for hints of a new war threat. Soviet delegate Jakob A. Malik told the council at Lake Success, N. Y., yesterday that "continuation of military operations in Korea would lead to a broadening of the conflict, fraught with serious consequences."

Italian Leads Yacht Event At Chicago

CHICAGO Ill.—(P)—Agostino Straulino of Rome, Italy, is in first place with 79 points today as the international star class yachting championship enters the third round on Lake Michigan.

The Italian skipper is top man in a field of 41 after finishing second Monday and third yesterday in Meropce.

Milwaukee's Hilary Smart, 1948 Olympic champion, brought his Hilarius across the finish line fourth yesterday and rates second to Straulino with 77 points. He was third Monday.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
SUMMIT, N. J.—(P)—It's a sort of boxing tradition that when writers visit a training camp, some old-time fighter must go along to provide color, comment and comparisons. . . yesterday it was whisper-voiced, cauliflower-eared Johnny Dundee who watched Sandy Saddler get ready for his third featherweight title fight with Willie Pep on Sept. 8. . . and Johnny occasionally departed from the script as he surveyed the scene in the barren, dingy quarters once operated by Madame Bey. . . "I only had a training camp once," Johnny confessed. . . "That was before my fight with Eugene Cricqui. I weighed 155 when I started to get down to 123—I used to eat a lot and drink a lot. . . so I set up a ring in the back yard of my place at West Orange and worked out there."

After Saddler finished a brisk four-round workout before a set of television cameras, Dundee asked: "That was mostly for the pictures wasn't it?" And when informed that was Saddler's regular drill, he exclaimed: "Is that so? Well, I guess he's always in shape: he fights a lot." . . .

The Height of Something
On the credit side, Dundee was visibly impressed by Saddler's long, lean frame and his left-hand punch, which looked very sharp. . . "that height is a tremendous help; you can stand off and jab them," Johnny commented. . . "I'm only about five-five and when I was a featherweight, I fought guys as tall as five-eleven. If I'd had the height, I would have fought some of the real big fellows. . . take Ray Robinson. If I was him I'd want to fight Ezzard Charles. He has the height and he can punch."

Going Places
Although he's comparatively young, Saddler already has fought in about 10 different countries between tussles with Pep. . . his manager, Charley Johnston, admits his excursions were partly because of Sandy's inability to get profitable bouts at home, but he adds: "Sandy likes to travel. His father was a chef on one of those big tramp ships. Maybe that's where he gets it. He doesn't get homesick like most fighters; I just get him a radio, a record player and a typewriter to write letters and he's happy. . . If I'd tell him tomorrow he had a fight in Panama he'd be ready to go."

. . . Later someone asked Saddler about his plans if he should lift the title and Johnston supplied the answer: "There's a return bout clause in the contract, but we'd like to take on all the contenders—We'll go to Europe and fight them all in their own backyards. . . Sandy just grinned. He likes to travel."

Soldiers Have No High Ideals

It's Kill Or Be Killed—Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—There seems to be an awful lot of comment these days on the moral aspects of the United States' possible hiring of some paid foreign troops to help us fight the United Nations' battles. The fact is we can hire a passel of capable professionals in a matter of days, pay 'em peanuts, and save the wear-and-tear on our own fuz-faced innocents, but some sort of weird moral argument is involved.

RUARK

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, for instance, is quoted to the effect that we should not hire, outright, mercenaries to fight our battles. He observes that there is a powerful spiritual fiber to the cause being upheld by the U. N. and the U. S. in opposing Communist aggression that transcends the mere rounding up of military hired hands.

I will guarantee that if you take a head check on every American fighting on Korea today and quiz him on his powerful spiritual fiber and his concept of the United Nations you will get both a short answer and possibly a knee in the groin.

No High Ideals

This is the thing that you can never shove through the skulls of people who form committees and learn about the world from junkets and who live out in ideals at the drop of a gavel.

There are no high ideals in a war on the part of people who fight them. The only high ideals are owned by the people who stay home and tell other people how to fight them, and what they are fighting them for. Soldiers fight because you sign them up and transport them someplace which is generally unpleasant, and threaten them with the articles of war unless they behave themselves.

Smart soldiers live long enough to kill other soldiers. Dumb soldiers die fast. Inexperienced soldiers don't last long. And all the time, they hate it, and are scared, and baffled, and fatigue-happy. They get drunk when they can. They steal. They fight among themselves. Their morale is finally based on their own competence. You could hire them for about six bits each, plus chow, a wonderfully competent bunch of professional soldiers from Europe to Japan today—hardbitten pros, just exactly like the hardbitten American pros who survived Africa to live through Sicily to go on to Italy to wind up in Normandy.

You could hire them at a great relief to the taxpayer and the American family, which dislikes to see its adolescents being butchered in Korea, against puppet troops, for somebody else's ideology.

They would kill well, at cut-rate prices. What do you want a soldier to do for you—love the adversary into submission with kind words and lofty thoughts?

Pros Are Cheaper
In the economies of war it is a heap better to preserve your manpower and kill off somebody else's if this be possible at a saving in expense. It is callous, but everybody else but noble old U. S. has been doing it for centuries, and war is finally fairly callous in that it boils down to a bayonet in the belly.

It seems silly to me to employ amateurs at high prices to die for ideals they never made when you can hire pros at half money to kill more and get killed less. This does not apply to a game of squat tag at a church supper, but that thing in Korea right now is no church supper.

I went to the last fracas for the duration and will undoubtedly get mixed up in this one, and somehow I feel I speak for a lot of contemporaries when I say, yes, me, but don't kid me. This is supposedly the United Nations' war, not the United States'. If it be so, let's rattle up a mess of mercenaries from all over the world and

Picture Windows Urged For Pigs

TOLEDO.—(P)—Cows, chickens and pigs soon will be gazing out of big picture windows just like city folks do, if farmers take the advice of agricultural engineers. They may not enjoy the view any more than if they were peering through small, dirty panes, but the animals will be healthier, according to Everett Eakin, Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company director of farm research. Studies on experimental farms during the last year show livestock fare better in buildings that have windows big enough to admit germ-killing sunshine.

put them to work as paid cops. You don't draft cops. You don't feed them a crawful of fine words. You hand 'em a gun and tell them to go out and shoot criminals. That is what a police force is for, and they tell me we are a global police force. This being true, I'd like to see more of the globe mixed up in it, and a slight cessation of sermons on the moral aspects of our holy war.

Vancouver has its Own Grandma Moses

VANCOUVER.—(P)—Mary Clarke wanted to paint, and her years—72 of them—proved no handicap. A white-haired mother of eight, Mrs. Clarke learned the fundamentals of painting in a winter art course, taking one night a week to wield a brush.

She said at first her attempts looked like the work of a four-year-old, but that it didn't matter because she got enjoyment out of it. "With my children all either married or away on their own and my husband dead, I need a hobby to keep me busy," she explained.

Chicago Woman Falls For A Bee

CHICAGO.—(P)—Mrs. Rose Hart heard the buzz of a bee in her apartment. She shooed it to a window and removed the screen to let it get out. But she lost her balance and fell 18 feet to a sidewalk. She suffered slight back injuries.

Steamer Rescues 2 Boys Adrift

HARBOR BEACH—(AP)—Two Grosse Pointe boys adrift for several hours on Lake Huron in an 18-foot sailboat were rescued last night by the Steamer J. H. Shalle.

The Coast Guard at Harbor Beach reported that 14-year-old Robert Semple and 13-year-old Thomas Williams had been brought safely ashore to their vacation home here.

Shortly before dark, pilots of two planes dispatched from Bad Axe Airport by state police reported they had sighted the young adventurers alone in the craft a mile off Port Hope, nine miles north of here.

Semple and Williams set out yesterday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. They were picked up at 11:30 p. m.

Former Rapid River Telegrapher Visits Old Friends

RAPID RIVER—Fred Pfeifer, of Ranier, Minn., who learned telegraphy in Rapid River years ago, and who is a member of a family of telegraphers, was here this past week with his wife visiting their cousin, Mrs. Hugh Harris, and old friends in the community.

Mr. Pfeifer now is station agent for the Canadian National railroad at Ranier.

He received his early education in Rapid River and his knowledge of telegraphy at the Soo Line depot here under the tutelage of Station Agent Klumper. Later he worked in Manistique and won the reputation of being the fastest telegrapher between Sault Ste. Marie and Minneapolis.

Mr. Pfeifer's oldest son, Keith, is working in the Ranier depot with his father. A son, Bill is in Minneapolis with the Great Northern and also teaches telegraphy in the vocational school. Daughter Patricia is a telegraph operator for the Northern Pacific at Superior. Two daughters also were telegraphers before their marriage.

Mrs. Pfeifer is the former Eva Keith who lived at Grafton when it was a booming mill town.

The Pfeifers left Rapid River Sunday for Sturgeon Bay to visit Mr. Pfeifer's father, Leonard, who now is 88 and still is in good health.

CHOICE AND VALUABLE PIECES

Vendors in ancient times featured wares of lesser value. Choice and valuable pieces were reserved for the man who knew enough to ask for them. In our business, such a practice would be had indeed. One drug or formula may look exactly like another. The quality of a pharmaceutical can be discerned only by those trained in such matters. Responsibility for supplying high-quality pharmaceuticals rests entirely with the pharmacist. This is a responsibility which we shoulder with pride and profound integrity. Our attitude is that the sick and ailing need the finest medicinals obtainable. That is the kind we always supply.

U. N. Revision Is Being Studied

General Conference Might Be Called

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON — The loud noises coming out of the United Nations headquarters at Lake Success have made it sound as though this was the beginning of the end of the second try at world organization. But there is a hopeful view which holds that this is the end of the beginning, or trial stage, with a new and creative phase more than a possibility.

The hope is based in considerable part on the plans under discussion for the session of the general assembly next month. While these plans are still highly tentative, the very fact they have reached the memorandum stage indicates the U. N. may be able to move off the present dead center of bitter dispute.

No. 1 is a proposal to be put before the assembly calling for a revision of the U. N. charter. This would take the form of a kind of constitutional convention to overhaul the basic document adopted at San Francisco. It would be a second San Francisco conference with member nations sending delegates to amend, or even discard, the present charter and start anew.

Bold Steps Necessary
That could be a way out of the strait jacket that today seems to hold the U. N. in a state of perpetual dissension. At any rate it is being seriously studied by those who believe that bold and positive steps are necessary.

Russia could not apply the veto in the assembly to a proposal for such a convention. Such a conference can be called "for purposes of reviewing the present charter" by a two-thirds vote of the general assembly, and by a vote of any seven members of the security council. This could therefore be brought about regardless of the Russian attitude.

But when it comes to alterations, the rat-trap rigidity of the present U. N. constitution again seems to apply. The language of the charter is as follows:

"Any alteration of the present charter recommended by a two-thirds vote of the conference shall take effect, when ratified in accordance with their respective constitutional processes, by two-thirds of the members of the United Nations, including all the permanent members of the security council."

If such a conference should agree by two-thirds vote to throw out, or radically change the veto power in the security council — the big monkey wrench—Russia, a permanent member of the council, could refuse to go along. The belief, however, of those who are working up this plan is that Russia would not get away with it.

Faced with the virtually unanimous desire of other nations to force a really meaningful charter, Russia might hesitate. A veto or a walk out would make perfectly plain to the whole world that the final source of obstruction was the Soviet Union.

Substitute India
Proposal No. 2 is related to proposal No. 1. A conference to review the U. N. charter would be called with one specific and limited objective in view. That would be to make a change in the present permanent members of the security council. India would be substituted for China.

This would do a lot of things. To begin with, if it could be brought about, it would eliminate most of the friction over whether Red China, or Nationalist China, would sit in China's permanent seat.

The Nationalist delegate today represents nothing more in fact than the island of Formosa and Chiang Kai-shek's hold on that island. This is obviously unreal. In his brilliant and searching book "War or Peace," John Foster Dulles says that the Communist delegate should be seated when it is clear beyond any doubt that the Communist Chinese are, in fact and in law, the government of China.

But it is just as obvious that from the point of view of American public opinion, this could never happen while American troops are fighting and dying to drive out the North Korean Communist invaders. The Chinese Communists have pledged their loyalty to the North Koreans.

Safe Chemical Protects Grain

BALTIMORE — (P) — An insecticide which its makers say is the first to protect grain from insects and yet be harmless to man has been developed here. U. S. Industrial Chemicals, Inc., which has been developing the insecticide for four years, said wheat farmers are now losing up to 45 cents a bushel on their crops because of insect damage.

The new development is intended to prevent insects from invading stored grain. It's not recommended for treatment of grain already heavily infested. The company said the insecticide is not dangerous to humans or animals even when used in quantities far exceeding those recommended. The treated grain can be used for flour and cereal or fed directly to livestock without special processing.

The product is a combination of a new chemical, piperonyl butoxide, and pyrethrins. The insecticide is mixed with pulverized wheat or talcum powder to make it cling to the grain.

Your grocer, Bill Gordon, has a "partner" who is very valuable to him, and Bill's business would suffer if his "partner" ever failed him. It never has. You see, Bill's partner is his daily newspaper. It brings him news . . . it tells his customers about the food and bargains he has for them. His daily newspaper lets him know, in a brief but thorough manner, what his customers are thinking . . . saying . . . doing. It serves him in many other ways, too. In bringing Bill Gordon the news of his community, nation and the world, his newspaper doesn't do a helter-skelter job. It sifts and resifts the news so he won't have to do it himself. It brings him information by leaders in every field . . . it tells him who won the ball game. In its editorial columns it discusses problems, exposes wrongs and works for him and his community every day in the year.

Lost 27 Hours On Desert; Found

TUCSON, Ariz.—(AP)—Little the worse for being lost on the southern Arizona desert for 27½ hours, eight-year-old Gary McCarthy was back home with his parents today.

The boy was found seeking shade under a palo verde tree yesterday afternoon after more than 100 men in airplanes, cars, on foot and on horseback participated in the search.

The youngster was thirsty, hungry, exhausted, shocked and half-delirious but his overall condition is good. Gary's dog, who was with him when they became lost, has not been found.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy McCarthy, were looking at a mine Sunday morning when the dog ran down a hill and Gary went after him. When they started to come back, they were lost.

One of the planes in the hunt crashed yesterday, injuring the pilot and his passenger.

CEMETERY PARKS

According to predictions of the American Cemetery Owners' Association, cemeteries of the future will not contain tombstones, but will be like parks, landscaped and with only small bronze plaques marking the graves.

NOW IT'S RADIOACTIVE MOSQUITOES — In Turlock, Calif., Rene Zenther, left, holds a container of a radioactive substance which will be placed on a specially selected group of mosquito larvae as part of an experiment to learn more about the insect's habits. When the mosquitoes reach maturity they will be collected in special light traps nearby. Lawrence Schmelzer, right, holds Geiger counter to the solution to see that it is not dangerous to animal or human life.

UNWRAPPING A CARRIER

DEMOTHBALLING. Preservation cover, called an "igloo", is removed from anti-aircraft gun on carrier.

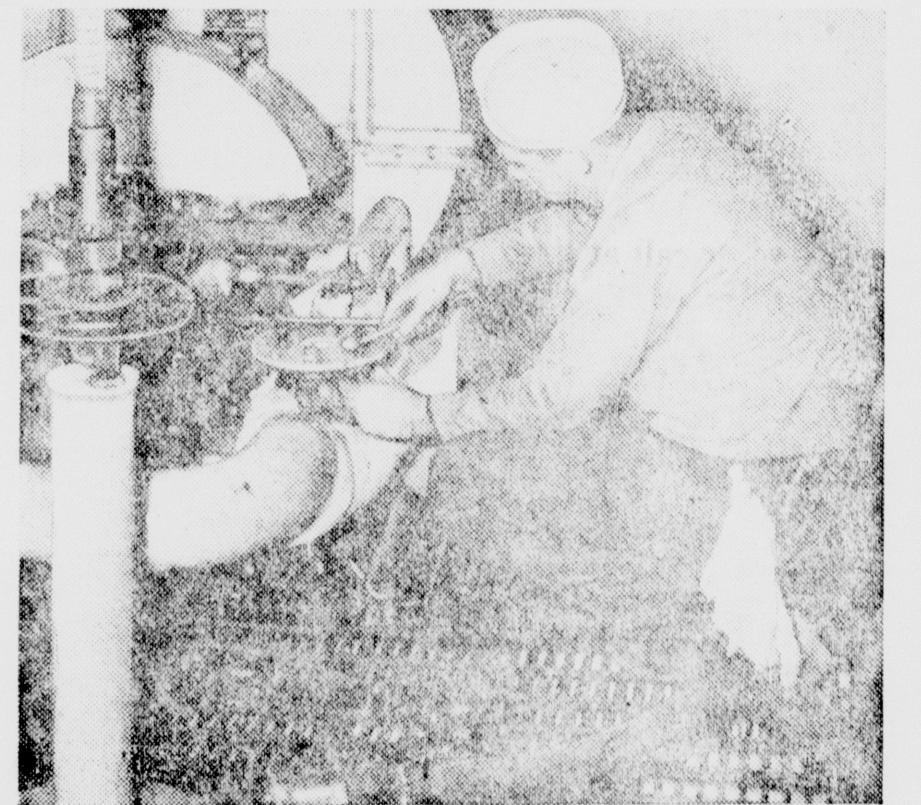

CARRIER USS CAPE ESPERANCE IS GUIDED OVER KEEL-BLOCKS AT BREMERTON, WASH., NAVAL DRY DOCK.

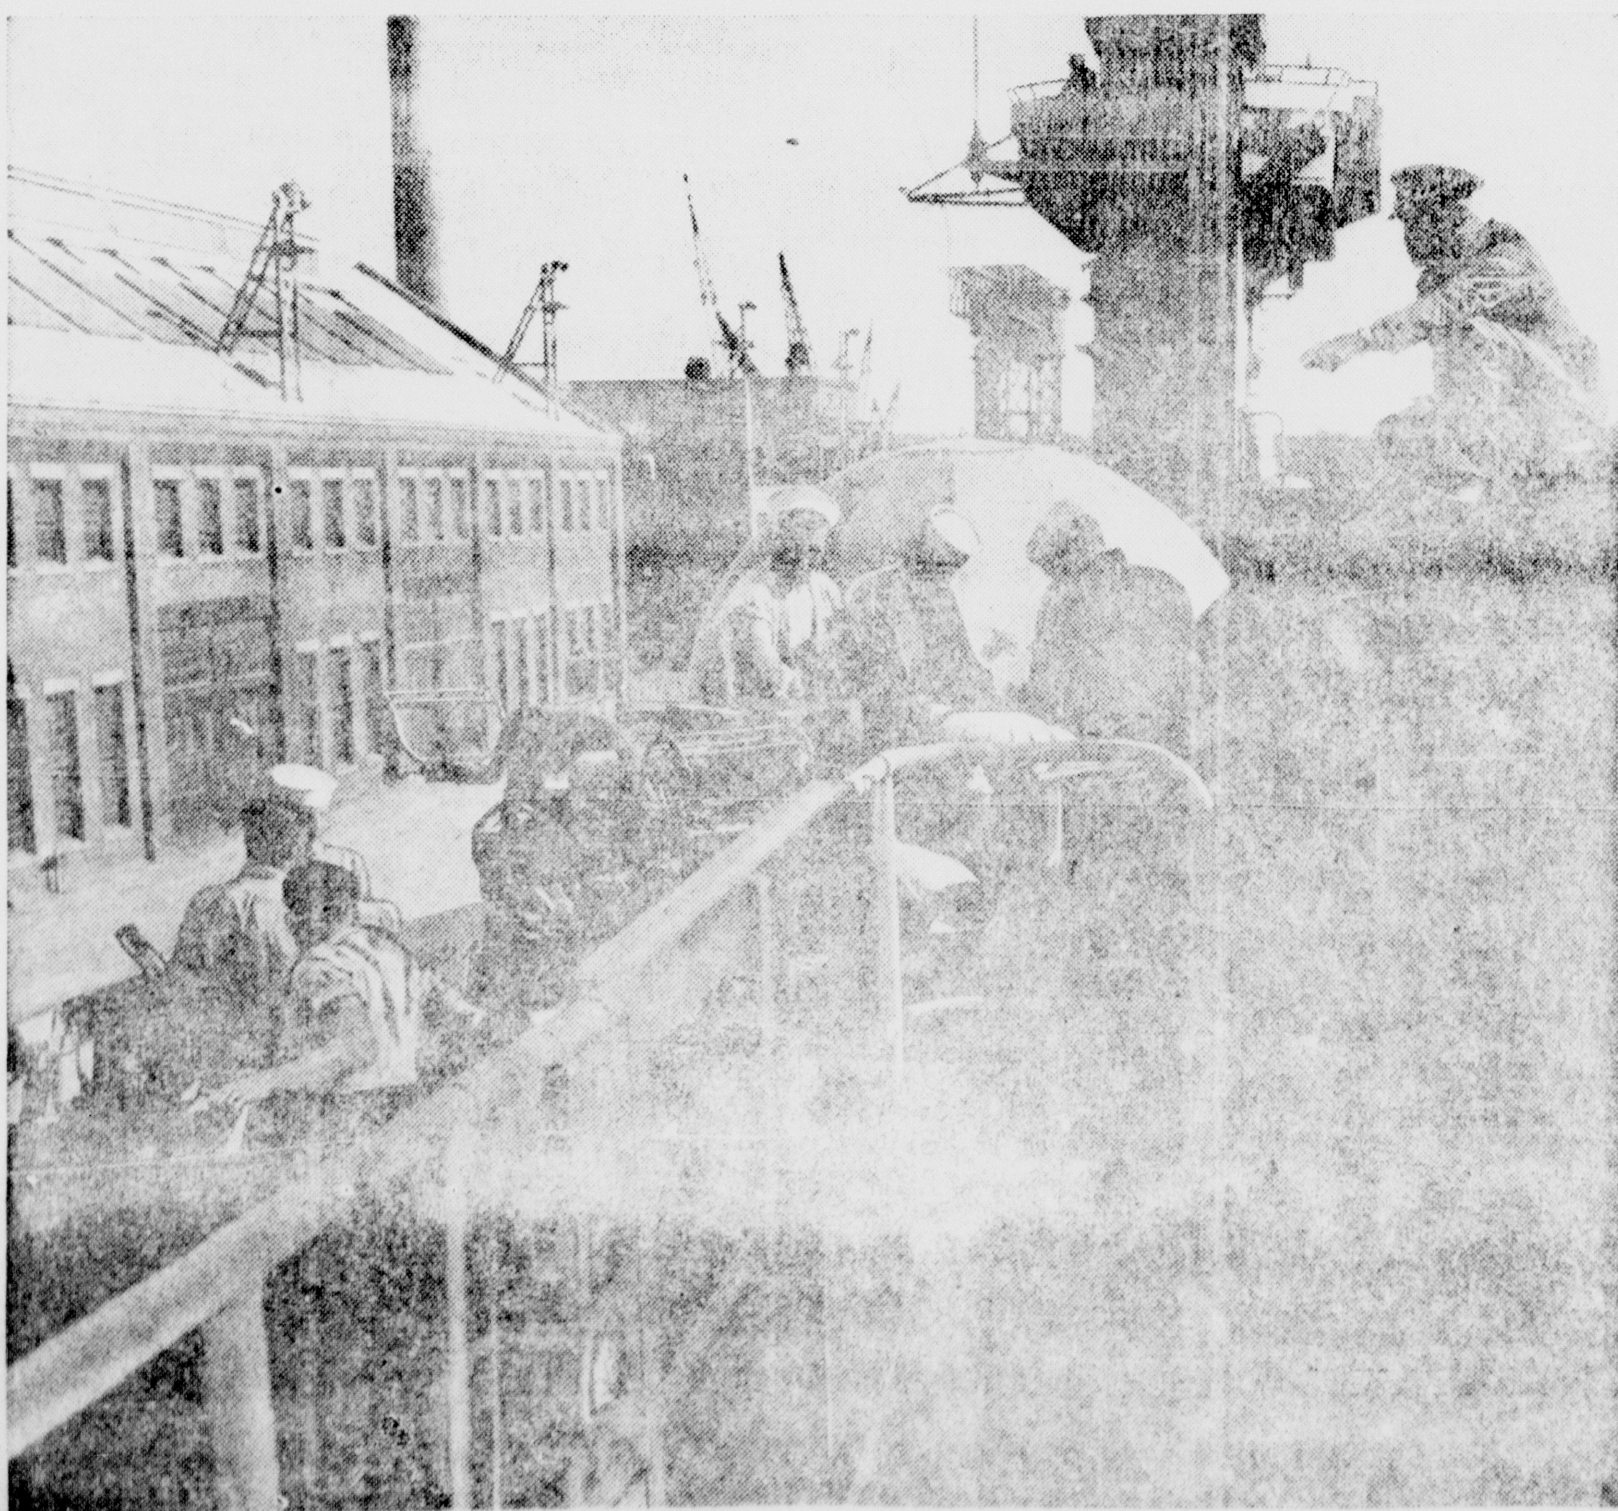

CLEARING THE DECK. Reactivation crew rips the preservative cover from flight deck of carrier USS Cape Esperance.

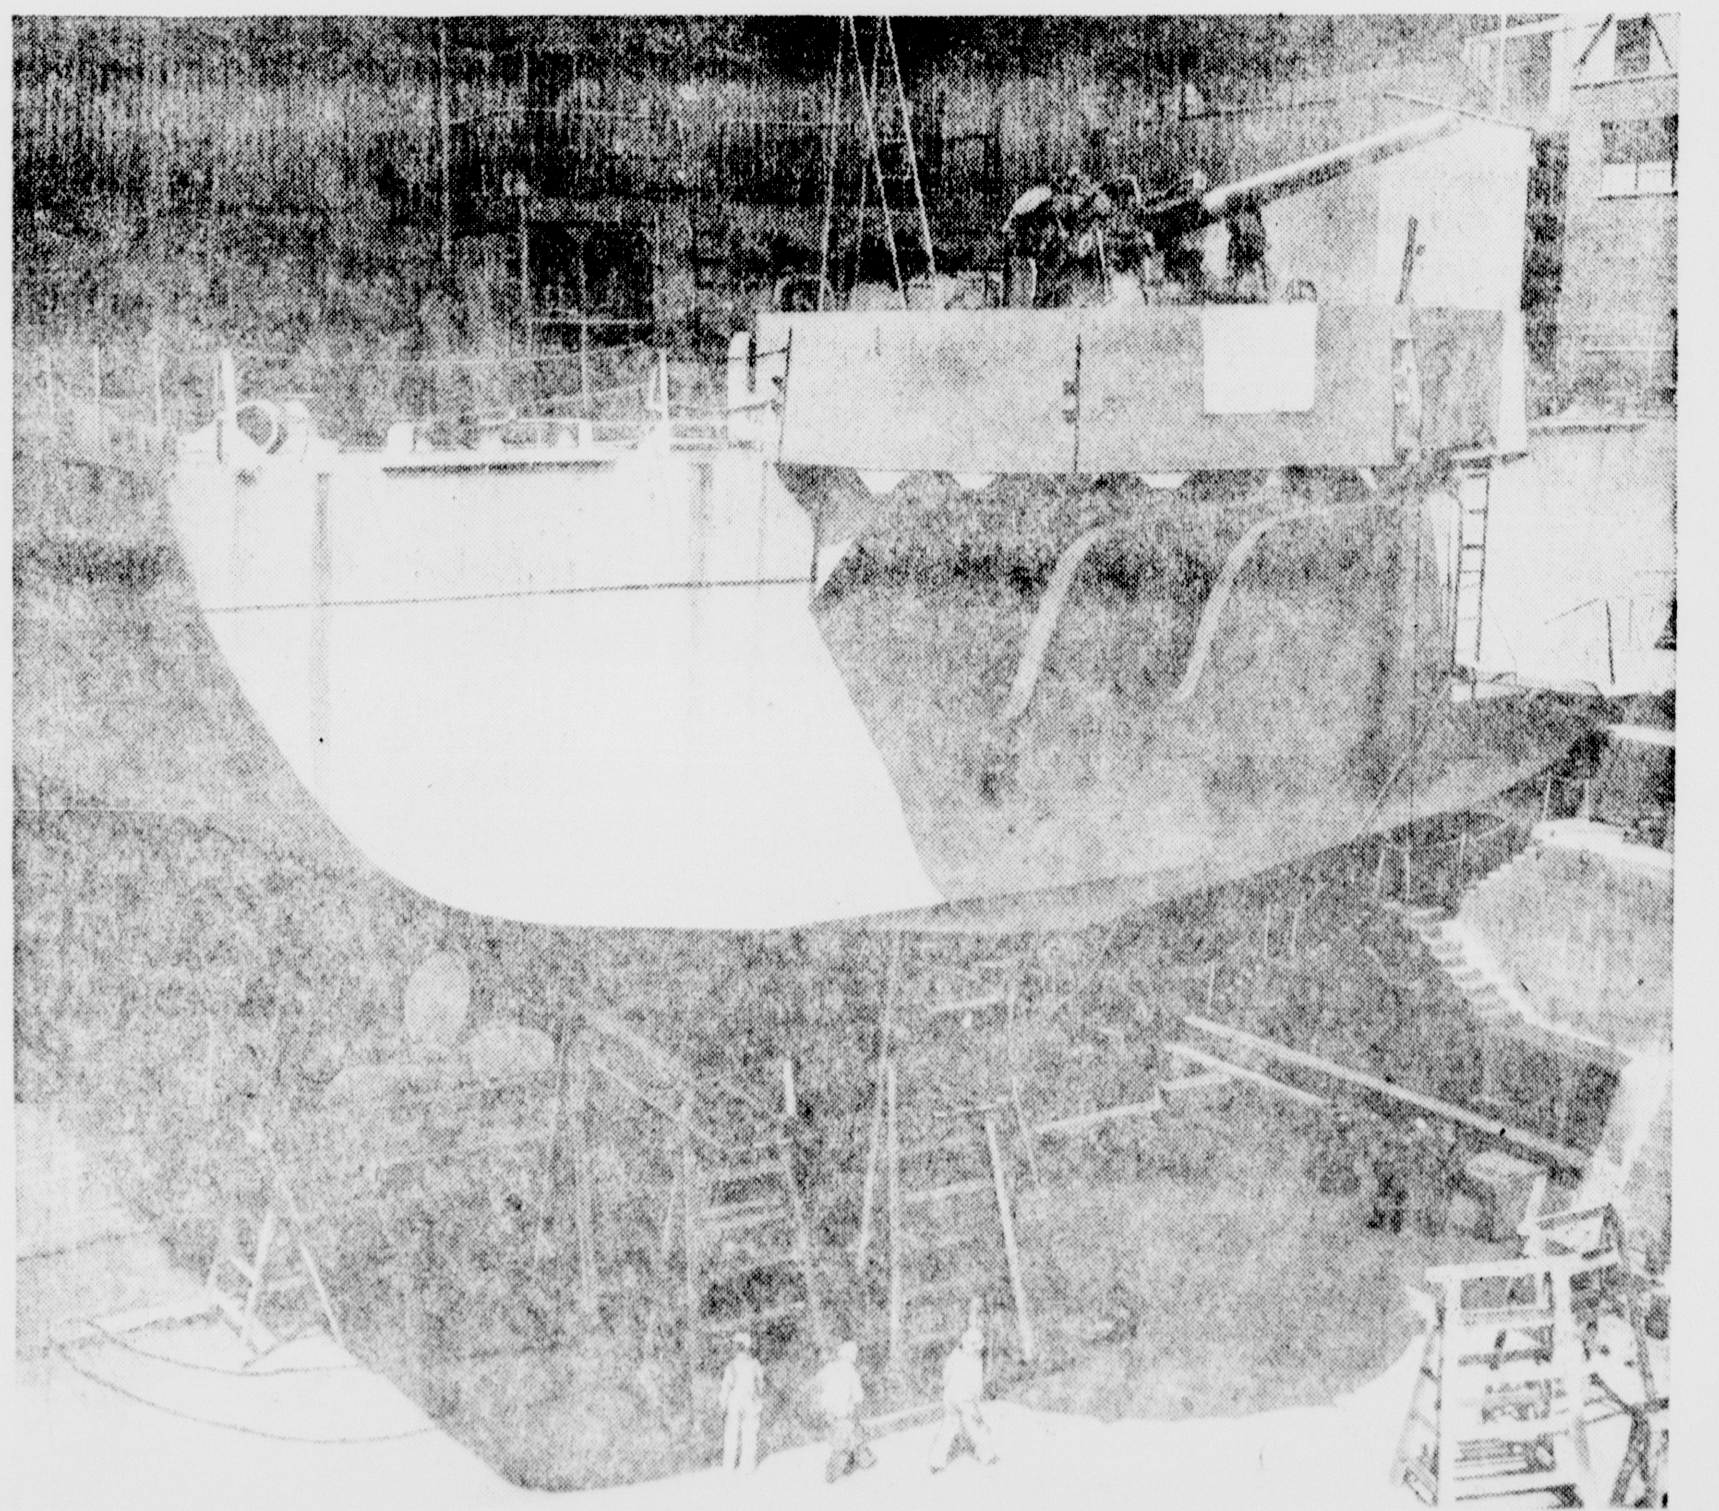

For nearly five years Uncle Sam has been keeping many of his fighting ships in mothballs. With the deepening of the cold war and the sudden flare up of a hot war in Korea, the wraps for some have been coming off. Ships removed from mothballs since January 1 and up to the Korean outbreak: one small carrier (Bataan), two escort destroyers, one submarine rescue ship, one submarine, four minesweepers. Eighteen other ships have been recommissioned for assignment to other countries under mutual defense programs, the largest a destroyer escort. Since Korea, two escort carriers have been ordered reactivated for transport use only, as well as one sea-plane tender. Many others are still under wraps. The de-mothballing of the escort carrier USS Cape Esperance at the Bremerton, Wash., Navy Yard is pictured here.

BACK TO BATTERY. Anti-aircraft gun aboard Cape Esperance being made ready for service by ordnance specialists.

TAKES UP WOOD CARVING—Miss Helen Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller, 622 Park Avenue, has attracted considerable attention by her skill at wood carving. With no other tools than a sharp jackknife and some sandpaper, Miss Helen has, for the past two years, been turning art objects that are not only beautiful, but reveal a natural aptitude for sculpturing.

Helen liked to draw and paint even when she was a little tot, but as she grew older her efforts revealed real talent. It was not until two years ago however, that she gave any thought to wood carving. Visiting at the home of a neighbor, Tom Shampine, she saw him working on an Indian head. Mr. Shampine does wood carving as a hobby and his ability in this direction is well known. Helen went home with ambition to turn out a product like her neighbor, and that was her start.

Helen's specialties are Indian heads and she can turn these out without much effort. But she does not confine her efforts to these. She has tried her hand at carving most anything that comes to her fancy. Some of these are items of religious art and others are of quaint design. All are definitely decorative.

Council Agrees On Fire Truck

LaFrance 1,000 GPM Pumper To Be Bought

Purchase of an American LaFrance fire truck was virtually agreed upon at an informal meeting of the Manistique city council Monday evening.

Though the action taken by the council was unofficial, members of that body are in full agreement on practically every point and the resolution calling for the purchase at next Monday evening's regular session will be the first order of business on its agenda.

The truck will have a pump capacity of 1,000 gallons per minute and be equipped with a 400 gallon booster tank. One of the items yet to be agreed upon is whether the truck will be equipped with a closed cab. Another item concerns the allowance the truck manufacturing company will give on equipment being replaced.

Armory Taxes

Considerable time of the council session was given over to discussion concerning taxes on the property now being used by the Manistique unit of the National Guard.

The property, formerly used by the Manistique Tool and Manufacturing Company, was sold about two years ago to five local residents who in turn leased it to the government for national guard purposes. A clause in the lease stipulates that the property, while used by the national guard, shall be exempt from taxation.

Some of the members of the council, at previous meetings, doubted the validity of such an agreement and turned the matter over to the city attorney for advisement.

At Monday night's session Frank Heinz and Herbert Peterson, two of the five owners of the building, were present to confer with the council. It was contended by certain council members that during part of the time when exemption from taxes is claimed, the Manistique Tool & Manufacturing company operated on the property in a Quonset structure directly in back of the armory and the property for that reason was subject to taxation.

It was also contended that while Frank LeMaire owned the property it had been made subject to a special assessment for certain improvements made by the city. Members contended that this spe-

Potato Crop Hit By Frost

Yield May Be Cut By Damage

Potato crop prospects appear to be severely hit by the white frost which hit the area in the early hours of Tuesday morning.

Temperature readings at the Manistique government observation station at the water tower, show the low for that time to be 32 degrees above and unofficial readings in the area have shown the drop to be as low as 30 degrees.

Damage by frost is spotted, depending largely by protective screening adjacent to the potato fields, but many of the fields in the coops area have been hard hit, many patches, particularly in low spots showing dark from frost burns.

The heaviest frost visitation appeared to be in the vicinity of the Strasser and Winkler farms north of Coops.

Fields of buckwheat and of corn also appeared to be hard hit.

Whether the frost damage will have any sizable effect upon the yield, residents of the area declined to say. The vines have not been killed, but development of many of them has certainly been retarded.

Young Men From County Taking Army Physicals

Twenty-six Schoolcraft county young men are in Escanaba today taking their pre-induction physical examinations, having gone there by bus this morning. The call was issued two weeks ago but since that time there have been a few changes in the list due to one being scratched off the list because he was a married man, one excused because he enlisted in the armed service and two who registered elsewhere being added to the local roster.

Roddy, Herbert L. Leonard, Harold J. Hughson, Lloyd J. MacDonald, George A. Hollingshead, James A. Lytle, Roland P. Landwehr, Ronald J. Carefelle, Harvey Asp, Max F. Schuettler, Robert L. Grade Crossing

A representative of the Soo Line railway appeared before the council to support the contention of the Public Service Commission, that a flash light system at the Houghton street crossing would be more practical than the employment of a flagman at that point. The discussions on the various matters at hand lasted until midnight.

Franklyn was 78 years old on August 8 and the people who made up the five generations were present to help her celebrate the occasion. Missionaries From India To Lecture Here

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Manley, missionaries for more than 20 years in South India will be in charge of services both in the morning and in the evening at the First Baptist church next Sunday. What this couple will have to tell will be of absorbing interest to those who attend because it will present a vivid picture of the people of that land where much dramatic history vital to the welfare of the world has been made and is in the process of being made.

They tell their story, not in a lecture, but in a dramatic presentation—Mrs. Manley appearing as a high caste Indian woman and Dr. Manley as an itinerant native teacher. They are clothed in the colorful costumes of the Orient as they give their interpretations.

Dr. Manley, who describes himself as "not a reverend, but a plain layman country doctor, has served as a medical pioneer. He helped to build the great Clough Memorial hospital and started medical work there, working in a mud hut dispensary while the hospital was being built. He received his training in America.

His twenty years in this interesting land are the basis for a deeply interesting story which is the basis for the dramatic presentation here Sunday.

Services will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning and 7:30 o'clock in the evening. The public is cordially invited to attend.

4-H Clubbers Take Action

Start Forest Fire Study Program

Michigan 4-H club members are inaugurating a forest fire study and prevention program for 1950-51 calculated to rip the seams off the time-worn phrase, "there is a lot of talk but no action."

Aware of the existence of a forest fire problem in Michigan, members have shown an "action" interest in learning the who, why, when, what, where and how. To meet their needs, 4-H club leaders, Michigan state college extension service and the conservation department field administration and forestry divisions have created a two-year project outline.

Specific objectives are to acquaint and give 4-H club members actual experience with the state's forest fire detection system; familiarize them with personnel, organization and purpose of their local conservation district headquarters; acquaint them with over-all conservation department organization; acquaint them with system of public land surveying; aid fire prevention by making and posting fire signs; and brief new members on the forest fire menace.

Boys from 12 to 20 are eligible to take part in local projects and are required to adhere to rules and regulations set up.

Organization of each group will be along the lines of a regulation conservation department field administration district.

Couple Makes Mill Into Home

DECATUR, Georgia — (U) — A professor and his wife have a new home in an old grist mill here. Dr. Stephen W. Gray is professor in Emory University, his wife is an instructor.

The old mill they are turning into a home was built in 1830. Its great oak beams and stone foundations are still sound. The couple has done most of the work of remodeling themselves although they have had the help of some of their students.

The building, four miles from Decatur, housed a mill that was important in turning out supplies to the Confederate Army during the Civil War.

INDIA PLANS CENSUS
HYDERABAD, India — (P) — Next year's census is expected to show that India has a population of 350 million. R. A. Gopalaswami, registrar general, said here. He said 800,000 persons would take the census at a cost of $2,000,000.

Letter Tells Of Changes In Okinawa

RAPID RIVER — Conditions on Okinawa are changing rapidly. Mrs. Mary Jean Aube who has a secretarial position with the U. S. government there writes in a letter to her mother, Mrs. Agnes Ewald.
